

Tim McDuffie
Associate Dean, Transfer Skills & Development

Community Outreach Chair

Tim McDuffie is an experienced postsecondary administrator with over 20 years in higher education and workforce development, dedicated to helping students achieve academic and career success. He is a proven leader in program development and student engagement, having advised Greek Life and led major campus initiatives at the University of the District of Columbia. Tim excels at building strategic partnerships with nonprofits, government agencies, and employers to create internship, certification, and employment opportunities that promote economic mobility. He holds a Master's in Homeland Security with a focus in Emergency Management and brings strengths in advising, strategic planning, public speaking, and curriculum development.

